In 2002, for every 100 houses in Region XI, thirty-five have no supply of electricity

Only 65 percent of the total houses in Region XI in 2002 had electricity. This indicates that 35 for every 100 houses in Region XI have no electric connections at home.

The energization rate of the region in 2002 is lower than in 2001. In 2001, energization rate was 79.9 percent compared to 65.0 percent in 2002. The decrease was brought about by the huge decline in the energization rate in Davao del Norte and Davao del Sur. Although the number of houses actually supplied with electricity in these two provinces increased, the number of houses for potential connections increased more rapidly thus decelerating the energization rate.

The number of houses for potential connections in Davao del Norte increased by 82.5 percent. Meanwhile, Davao del Sur's increase was by 40.2 percent. Because of the rapid growth in the number of houses for potential connections, the two provinces reached the lowest energization rate in 2002, with 46.5 percent for Davao del Norte and 45.1 percent for Davao del Sur.

Energization Rate of Houses in Region XI: 2002

Davao City had the highest percentage of houses with electric supply. With a total of 249,784 houses for potential electric connections, 234,085 houses or 93.7 percent, had already been connected with electricity.

In terms of the number of barangays energized, Davao City, had the highest rate of energization at 98.1 percent, while Davao del Sur had the lowest with 67.4 percent.
